Talks Still Sought

Strachan Makes Appeal

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Opposition leader Robert Strachan has appealed to Canadian premiers meeting in Halifax to press Ottawa for confirmation of provincial rights in the public utilities field.

Earlier at a press conference in his legislature office he launched a searing attack on the Bennett government for "bumbling incompetence" in its handling of B.C. Electric expropriation.

ISSUE RECLOSED

The real tragedy of the B.C. Electric case, he charged, was that Social Credit bungling had "brought down the whole area of provincial rights."

Suntanned and looking relaxed, the NDP leader had just returned from a vacation. It was his first comment on the BCE judgment.

CHALLENGES PREMIER

He challenged the premier to call an election any time with his allegation of government incompetence as the main issue.

Until now, he claimed, provincial rights in the utility field had gone unchallenged.

"Now, unfortunately, we have a court decision, and in our system of government court decisions overrule everything else."

He said he was in favor of paying B.C. Power the additional amount.

Doctors Fight To Save Ward's Life

LONDON (UPI) — Playboy osteopath Stephen Ward clung to life by a thread today.

Ward, who took a massive overdose of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide attempt Wednesday, grew steadily worse and doctors feared death was imminent.

GETTING WORSE

"This is the gravest news so far . . . he is getting worse," Butcher said. At midnight the hospital said there was no change and that an electronic lung was keeping Ward "barely alive."

Morning newspapers reported Ward's heart had stopped three times since Wednesday.

NOT OPEN

And Mr. Bennett said later his offer is not open to negotiation.

"The judge said the cost should be $192,000,000 and didn't ask for any more. The government has settled for the amount the Judge has set."

Hamilton: 'It's Sweet Reading'

OTTAWA (CP)—A second long-term wheat agreement with Communist China was claimed Friday by former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton as full vindication for the Conservative party and for himself.

It was "very sweet reading to me," said the member for Qu'Appelle who recalled criticism of the first deal under his jurisdiction as a windfall that never would be repeated.

He said Trade Minister Sharp is reaping the fruits of Mr. Hamilton's 1961 trip to Hong Kong to talk about wheat sales with Red China officials.

Hamilton

Mr. Hamilton said he had been criticized for that trip. He had clearly not out the reasons for it on his return—when he was accused of having gone to reap political advantage from a deal made by the Canadian wheat board.

He had gone, he said, to see how Red China would pay for the wheat, to lay a foundation for sales after the first agreement expired in 1963 and to see what could be done to broaden trade relations with Red China.

Mr. Hamilton said he had to sit quietly for two years and take abuse about the first agreement.

Red China Repeats

BIG WHEAT SALE

OTTAWA (CP)—A second Canadian wheat sale agreement with Red China duplicates the 112,000,000 to 186,700,000 bushels provided in the one now expiring, Trade Minister Sharp said Friday.

Under the first 2½-year agreement, originally due to end next December, 145,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of barley were delivered.

The second agreement is for three years and makes no provision for barley. Another major change is that the period of repayment at unspecified interest is 18 months replacing the previous terms of nine months and, later, a full year.

DOWN PAYMENT SAME

The down payment remains at 25 per cent.

Prices and grades of wheat are determined in separate hard contracts under the agreement and the prices are those prevailing at the time.

CREDIT FINANCED

The government will continue to finance the credit offered by the Canadian wheat board. The previous Conservative government maintained a special $100,000,000 fund for that purpose.

The agreement dates from Aug. 1.

TO JAN. 31

The first sale under it runs from Aug. 1 to next Jan. 31 and covers 18,670,000 bushels.

Former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton, commenting on the announcement, said the three-year life of the new agreement really includes the last six months of the old one.

OTTAWA (CP)—Hope that a private member's bill might end the parliamentary blockade of Quebec and Newfoundland divorces by the New Democratic Party faded Friday night. (See also Page 5.)

Senate House Recess

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament recessed Friday night for a two-month summer holiday after putting the finishing touches on the minority Liberal government's initial round of legislation.

In pre-holiday festive spirit, MPs closed out the first part of the opening session of the 26th Parliament at 10:58 p.m. EDT of the 56th sitting day.

Both the Commons and the Senate sat overtime in rare Friday night sittings to complete passage of several important measures the government wanted to become law before the recess.

Russia Given Order That U.S. Rejected

NEW DELHI (AP)—Usually reliable sources said Friday India was turned down by the United States in a bid for anti-aircraft missiles and the Soviet Union has now agreed to supply them.

The deal for Soviet arms is still in the early stages. An arms mission sent back a partial report from Moscow saying the Soviet Union had offered ground-based anti-aircraft missiles, mountain artillery, helicopters and other items.

Britain and the United States stipulated that military aid should be used only for defense against Communist China. This restriction was intended to reassure their ally, neighboring Pakistan, which fears Indian attack because of

Bullets Fly In Korea

PANMUNJON, Korea (AP)—Communist North Korean troops intruded into United Nations command areas of the demilitarized zone today and exchanged fire with American troops. Maj.-Gen. George Cloud told the Communists at an armistice commission meeting here.

Cloud said the incident took place at about 4:30 a.m. 500 yards south of the military demarcation line which runs through the middle of the demilitarized zone separating the North Korean Communists from UN troops.

Cloud did not elaborate on his report of the incident immediately. He did not say whether there were casualties or what happened to the intruders.

Your Good Health

Sun Fine Medicine If Dosage Correct

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Dr. Molner: I was told by a friend sunbathing can be harmful; that too much is a contributing factor to skin cancer. I have always heard the sun is very beneficial as a good source of Vitamin D. Which opinion is right?—Mrs. D.G.

Your friend is right. So are you. And both are also wrong. Plenty of life-saving medicines are wonderful, in the correct amount. They may be harmful and often deadly if taken in excessive amounts. Whether it's sun, salt or drugs, the right amount is important.

Too little sun can cause rickets, too much can cause severe sunburn.

THIRD RISK

And there's a third risk. Some people may never have a sunburn which knocks them off their feet, yet over a period of many years they may get much more sun than they need. This may, in two or three decades, cause such slow yet gradual irritation that skin cancer results.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 29 and have a rather large and protruding Adam's apple. It makes me self-conscious. Can anything be done to correct or lessen this "affliction?"—D.G.

I'm afraid not. The Adam's apple is a structure made of cartilage over the windpipe. It is much more prominent in men than in women, and especially in lean men. At 29, you may be due to put on some weight. I'd just try to forget about it, otherwise.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that cola drinks are bad for the liver? I know they contain caffeine.—H.W.

Overindulgence can have the same effect as too much coffee — edginess, wakefulness. But they can't hurt the liver.

Rusk on Way To Sign Pact

WASHINGTON—State Secretary Rusk headed for Moscow Friday night to sign the nuclear test-ban treaty and explore with Premier Khrushchev the possibilities for further East-West agreements.

Guns Fall To Drums

DAR-E-SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — The Tanzanian government announced Friday the official salute for President Julius Nyerere will be changed from a salvo of 21 guns to a thundering roll of African tribal drums.

In advance of his departure as head of a 13-man U.S. delegation, Rusk was described as willing to talk with Khrushchev and other leaders about virtually any item. He expects to stay in the Soviet Union until late next week.

Rusk is taking a private letter from President Kennedy. It is in reply to one the Soviet leader sent the president after conclusion of the test-ban agreement and it is reported to be friendly in tone.

In advance of Rusk's departure, Republican congressional leaders announced they can support the pending treaty only "if it can be had without endangering our safety or security."

Skopje Won't Move

Skopje, Yugoslavia (UPI) — City officials announced Friday Skopje will be rebuilt on its present site.

The plan after the earthquake struck July 26 was to place Skopje away from a line of faults which has produced more than 20 tremors in recent days.

Mayor Blagjivo Popov now says work will start immediately to rebuild the four largest government structures because the existing site is too vital a traffic hub.

The known death toll now is 237, the estimated toll is more than 2,000.

LONDON (UPI) — Radio monitors Friday reported an end or decrease of jamming of the Voice of America.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.S. Friday announced a ban on sales of all military equipment to South Africa by the end of the year. But it imposed punitive action by the U.N. Security Council aimed at forcing South Africa to abandon its white supremacy policies.

MANILA (Reuters) — A message from General U Thant "cleared the roadblock" Friday in negotiations here between Malaya and Indonesia over the Malaysian Federation. Indonesian Foreign Minister Dr. Subandrio said a settlement is close at hand.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Friday endorsed a speedup in the U.S. space program and reaffirmed determination to land men on the moon before the end of this decade.

The chamber overwhelmingly passed a $3,200,000,000 space authorization bill for the current fiscal year, up from $3,700,000,000 last year.

PARIS (UPI) — French officials Friday wrote off prospects of an early U.S.-French agreement on nuclear policy or a meeting between President Kennedy and President de Gaulle within the next six months. Kennedy poured cold water Thursday on hopes that the U.S. might be on the verge of offering to share nuclear know-how with France.

Too Much Too Soon For Malta

LONDON (AP) — Two Maltese political leaders said Friday early independence for Malta might spell disaster for the Mediterranean island territory.

Miss Mabel Strickland, leader of Malta's Progressive Constitutional party, and Dr. Herbert Ganado, leader of the Democratic Nationalist party, told a press conference the date set for the island's independence—May 31, 1964—is too early and could lead to economic chaos.

SANDY'S DECISION

Both were commenting on the decision, announced Thursday by Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandy, to end 163 years of British rule.

Miss Strickland said the economy had been built on Britain's defense spending. She said she would like to see independence in six to 10 years. That would give the island a chance to build up a sound economy not based on defense expenditure.

Settlement Essential

PREMIER BENNETT has made a wise decision in offering to settle the dispute with B.C. Power Corporation over the take-over of B.C. Electric on the basic terms suggested by Chief Justice Lett.

The court's judgment has gone against the government, and while the constitutional issues raised are so important that they must be appealed, the financial settlement with B.C. Power should be made without further ado.

Mr. Lett clearly intended the figure of $192,000.000 which he set as the value of the B.C. Electric assets at Aug. 1, 1961, the day of the take-over, should be the basis of any further talks between the parties. This would involve an extra payment of about $21,000,000 and that is what Mr. Bennett is offering to pay.

The B.C. Power Corporation, flushed with its victory in the Supreme Court, will no doubt ask for more, and its chairman Mr. A. Bruce Robertson has already indicated that loss of earnings since the take-over must be taken into account additionally.

It is not clear what Mr. Robertson expects, for it is to be noted that the Power Corporation accepted $110,000,000 from the government in the fall of 1961 and another $61,000,000 in the spring of 1962.

B.C. Power Corporation not only took these sums but also distributed over $82,000,000 to its shareholders representing a payment of $18.70 a share. It could, if it had wished, have paid the remaining B.C. government money, representing another payment of about $90,000,000.

Thus the shareholders of B.C. Electric have had the use of this money during most of the past two years, and it seems hardly logical that they should expect earnings twice on the same capital.

Certainly on the extra $21,000,000 which Mr. Bennett now offers, a reasonable interest rate—probably 5 to 6 per cent—could be added.

By large, however, it would appear that the figure set by Mr. Lett is a reasonable one that Mr. Bennett can accept in the interests of the people of B.C. without involving them in what might be termed excessive demands of a private company.

If B.C. Power after its manifestations favoring a mediated settlement further impedes a settlement, or insists on resuming control of B.C. Electric, it will lose any remaining sympathy that may be felt for it.

Vital to Province

THERE IS ONE very good reason why British Columbia must contest the judgment of Chief Justice Lett that because B.C. Electric was wholly owned by a company with a Dominion charter, it should not have come under the jurisdiction of the province.

B.C. Electric since its incorporation with a B.C. charter in 1926 has always acted and behaved as if it were a provincial company. It was regulated by the Public Utilities Commission of the province.

If Mr. Lett's judgment remained unquestioned and B.C. Electric were restored to the private ownership of B.C. Power, it would presumably be a Dominion corporation and would thus have to go to federal authorities for its regulations.

The province could hardly tolerate such a situation, not only in this particular instance, but in that it would leave a loophole for every B.C. company which did not like its provincial treatment to form a new controlling company with a Dominion charter, and thus overrule the provincial standing of its subsidiary.

Mr. A. Bruce Robertson, chairman of B.C. Power Corporation, gave a veiled hint of his recognition of the possible new standing of a privately owned B.C. Electric when he said Mr. Lett's judgment had very meaningful implications.

Mr. Lett based his decision on the BNA Act which in its complexity and apparent contradictions is a nightmare for all those who have to deal with it. The B.C. government is going to oppose the decision "all the way" according to Mr. Bonner.

Fumy Royalty

TWO QUEENS have been fined $100 each in New York for smoking too much—the Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary, penalized for the fourth time for polluting the air while in port.

This would be only of passing interest in Victoria but for the fact that the atmosphere around the Inner Harbor is frequently enriched, and not pleasantly, by a smoking Princess whose odiferous habit apparently is uninhibited because local regulation does not extend to ships.

The Princess would confer on the city a royal favor by doing her smoking at sea, if she cannot entirely give up the practice. The New York example, however, suggests that it should not be absolutely impossible, if such course appears necessary, for Victoria to obtain an extension of its jurisdiction in this respect.

Drafting' Senator Goldwater

The Importance of Mr. O'Donnell

By GODFREY RODGSON from Dallas

EVEN Texans, who are not given to undervaluing their place in the world, do not claim that Dallas is one of the world's great political capitals. Yet in a suite of offices on the top floor of an 18-storey building here, there is a young man who could have a considerable effect on the world's politics a year from now, if all goes well for him.

The young man—he is 39 years old, but looks younger—is Mr. Peter O'Donnell Jr., and he is the national chairman of an organization called the "National Draft Goldwater Committee." It has two objectives:

to get Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona nominated by the Republican party at its convention in San Francisco next July as a candidate for the presidency of the United States; and, subsequently, to help him beat Mr. Kennedy in the election the following November.

The second of these two goals looks pretty remote. But a year ago the first looked pretty remote, too. Now, although a lot of things can happen between now and next July, it looks an odds-on chance. And Goldwater as candidate, even if he is unsuccessful, could have a profound effect on international affairs if he attacks the administration from the far right, as he can be expected to.

O'Donnell's committee is supposed to be "drafting"—that is, conscripting—Goldwater because, under an amiable convention of American politics, a candidate is expected to go on pretending that his candidacy is the last thing he wants until long after it is obvious that he can be thinking of nothing else.

But while Governor Nelson Rockefeller, Goldwater's hottest rival and the favorite for the nomination until his chances were badly hurt by his recent re-marriage to a divorcee with four young children, flounders in his attempt to outflank the Kennedy administration by presenting the Republicans as the party of equal rights for Negroes . . . Goldwater says nothing.

He does not deign to reply to Rockefeller's pointed attacks on the "radical right fringe." It is true that Goldwater, while not personally in favor of racial segregation, is the preferred candidate of Southern racists, as well as of the super-patriots of the John Birch Society and a rift of other fundamentalists and extremists. But it is also becoming clear that he would be highly attractive to many of the professional politicians of the Kennedy administration.

Mr. Ronald Hill, Edinburgh's adviser on modern languages, explained that the modern tendency was to put the stress on speaking rather than writing modern languages. This was particularly important for young children, many of whom might be able to assimilate a spoken language which they would have difficulty in writing. He thought it essential to start with children before they reached the age of self-consciousness. The big difficulty lies in finding the teacher who can do the job with out being specialists. Mr. Hill pointed out that it was undesirable to break the close relationship between the primary school teacher and his class.

I asked Mr. O'Donnell why these men were looking to Goldwater, when the conventional wisdom has it that, to hold the support of the great ramshackle coalition that are the two great American parties, a man must take firm control of the centre. "Because he can win," he said. What he meant was that the Republicans want a candidate who as well as offering all the usual attractions, stands out clearly as being different.

With the Classics

God gave all men all earth to love.
But since our hearts are small,
Ordained for each one spot should prove
Beloved over all.
That as we watched Creation's birth,
So we, in gorlike mood,
May of our love create our earth
And see that it is good.

there is no shortage of volunteers in its primary schools to use audio-visual methods. About 170 teachers applied for the course in Paris, although only part of their ex-

For Army

Feathers And Fur

By E. CASTELL

FURS and feathers may seem at first glance to have little to do with the British Army, but in fact they have a long-established place in military tradition. Few people realize how many different kinds can be found on, for instance, the headgear of officers and men.

Several Scottish regiments wear plumes from a bird now so rare in its old Highland hunting grounds that the army's contractors have to comb Central Europe for the necessary feathers.

The bird is the blackcock, and the whole of its curious, curved tail is worn on the pipers' glengarries. Feathers of the right kind are not always easy to come by, because the birds that emigrated from Scotland were apparently unwilling enough to consort with inferior species.

Pipers of one Scottish regiment, the Queen's Own Highlanders, differ from the others in preferring the eagle to the blackcock.

Publicity has made people aware of the not unlimited supply of bearskins for the Brigade of Guards. A year or two ago, a Canadian major—Canada was once the source of the bearskins—organized a special hunt in aid of the Guards.

There are, however, still enough good brown bears in certain parts of the world to keep guardmen properly dressed, but there might come a time when other material will have to be considered, and with this in mind the army has examined certain synthetic fibres such as nylon.

The gunners of the King's Troop, Royal Horse Artillery, who travel from their barracks in St. John's Wood, northwest London, to Hyde Park to fire salutes on the Queen's birthday and other state occasions, rely on all sorts of strange fauna to ensure their sartorial elegance.

Ever since the middle of the 19th century there had been a battery of the Royal Artillery at St. John's Wood. It was disbanded at the beginning of the Second World War, but afterwards reformed at the express wish of King George VI, who gave it the royal title which the present Queen retained in order that her father's interest in the unit should be permanently recorded.

The members of the battery wear busbies, which are frequently confused with bearskins. The busby is noticeably smaller than the bearskin and has nothing at all to do with bears.

The busbies are Canadian bearskins. However, the officers' requirements are vastly more complex. For recent replacements flying squirrels have had to be imported from Japan. At one time Sable was used, but now it is too expensive. And owing to a current shortage of flying squirrel, two officers in need of new busbies may have to be content with lynx.

Then there is the bushy plume, which itself is in two distinct parts. On top goes an ostrich feather of South African origin. Below it there are feathers that once came from swans and even vultures, but are now supplied by the less exotic hen.

These hens, however, are no ordinary backyard scratchers. For regiments, notably the Fusiliers, that carry plumes on their berets, the feathers have to be a definite shape and size. So one man's feathers might be French and another's Chinese. Each year several thousand feathers are required.

The tourist does not follow a one-way street to Canada. What he spends in Canada has been more than balanced, for years, by what Canadians spend in the U.S.

Mr. Kennedy estimates that all tourist spending abroad last year left the U.S. with a deficit of $1,400,000,000.

Trade Minister Sharp estimates that spending by Canadian tourists abroad left Canada with a deficit of $50,000,000 last year, a substantial improvement over the deficit of some $160,000,000 in 1961.

Canada hopes for a "positive balance" in tourist trade this year, and President Kennedy is encouraging them to stay at home and share in a "See America Now" program.

The crowds that admire the dazzling displays of the Household Cavalry at the Queen's Birthday Parade and elsewhere will usually include a few well-informed folk who know that the men with white plumes belong to the Life Guards and those with red plumes to the Royal Horse Guards ("The Blues").

Most of them would probably assume that the plumes were horsehair, and so they are—with one exception. Who ever would have guessed that the hair of a yak adorns the helmet of an officer of the Royal Horse Guards?

Horsehair also decorates the bearskins of the Foot Guards. For the Grenadier Guards the small identifying side plume is white, for the Coldstream Guards red, for the Irish Guards blue, and for the Welsh green and white. Just to make things difficult for spectators, the Scots Guards do not wear a plume at all.

The Household Cavalry is distinguished from other formations not only by its headgear but also by its breeches. It has always been the custom for these to be made from buckskin, and it is very hard-wearing. One pair is known to have been in use since 1890—because it has the date stamped on it.

The skins come from all parts of the world, including the Duke of Bedford's estate at Woburn Abbey.

Most of the firms that produce all these articles have been in the business for a very long time. At least one of them has been attending to the army's needs for 200 years.

Indian Claims Court Likely for Canada

Jobless Fund Faces Overhaul

$96,000,000 in the Red?

Daily Colonist, Victoria, Saturday, August 3, 1963

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament will be asked this fall to pass new legislation overhauling the bankrupt unemployment insurance fund, a reliable source says.

Work on the legislation has been under way for some time. The cabinet has been told that no matter how quickly it moves with new legislation, the unemployment insurance fund will likely dive into the red by May, 1964.

This warning came from the unemployment insurance advisory committee, a non-governmental body, in a report delivered to the cabinet a few weeks ago and tabled in the Commons Friday by Labor Minister MacEachen.

The committee said the fund will likely be $96,000,000 in the hole by May, 1964.

The nine-member advisory committee—supposed to be an outside watchdog over the financial operations of the unemployment insurance fund—based its forecasts on an actuarial study prepared by J. W. Kroeker, senior actuary of the federal department of insurance.

UP IN DECEMBER

The Kroeker study said the fund can be expected to be in the black by about $42,000,000 by Dec. 31 this year.

But winter unemployment would eat away at this surplus, leaving a $49,000,000 deficit by March 31, 1964. By May 31, 1964, the nosedive into the red would amount to about $96,000,000, the study said.

NO EARLY EFFECT

Both Mr. Kroeker and the advisory committee said that possible legislative overhaul to the unemployment insurance system will not have a significant effect on the operation of the fund this winter.

The government plans to bring legislation before Parliament at the fall session to implement some of the recommendations of a special committee of inquiry that studied the unemployment insurance program.

DRASTIC OVERHAUL

The committee, headed by Toronto insurance executive Ernest C. Gill, proposed a drastic overhaul of the insurance scheme to place it on a better footing.

Typical were the plaster-of-Paris wall plaque, at left, made by Carolyn Zapf, 3333 Cumberland, of Play fair Park, and the plaster doll, felt rabbit and raffia doll held above by Douglas Ford, 4205 Panorama Drive.

Senior supervisor Lloyd Sinclair said about 4,000 youngsters have been taking part in the programs which began July 2.

Next major event in the parks program is an open house at Hampton Park Wednesday, starting at 7 p.m. with a fancy-dress parade.

The BCE was subsequently amalgamated into the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority which is the designated entity to construct the giant $850,000,000 Peace River power project. But the effect of the judgment was to bring into question the legal status of the authority and contracts it has let.

'What to Arbitrate' Big Issue

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

One obstacle continues to block efforts to end a strike by 7,000 B.C. salmon net fishermen after its third week.

Representatives of the striking United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and the Fisheries Association of B.C. last night were still unable to agree what points of dispute an arbitrator would handle.

Union representatives and representatives of the association, which bargains for companies, are to meet again this morning in Vancouver with B.C. government chief conciliation officer Reg Clements.

Kenneth Campbell, secretary-manager of the association, said the association was sticking to its position that it is willing to send to arbitration the price of pink salmon, and nothing more.

VOTE ON PROPOSAL

Union net fishermen were voting on a proposal by their union leaders the strike ended and an arbitrator appointed and told to decide his own terms of reference. Results of the union vote should be known today.

The union says there is disagreement over other fish species besides pinks, and over welfare benefits.

STILL A MESS

A favorable vote by net fishermen on their union leaders' proposal will not necessarily mean agreement between the parties leading to appointment of an arbitrator, Mr. Campbell said last night. He said the situation is "unfortunately, still a mess."

The union Friday telegraphed B.C. Labor Minister Peterson and federal Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud asking clarification of the position if union and operators cannot agree on terms of reference for an arbitrator.

MEET TOBAY

Union plans were to have the salmon and net fishermen at work by Sunday night while an arbitrator goes to work on a binding settlement of the with Sundays and holidays free labor dispute.

Union spokesman George North last night said he did but the salmon net fishermen, not know whether the union would send fishermen to sea.

If they voted in favor of their union leaders' proposal but union and operators still were unable to agree on terms of reference.

The strike, which had tied up the whole B.C. fishing industry, is over for everybody, forbidding the union to stop his halibut boat from sailing.

Striking shore workers, several days after voting to accept the latest company offer, went back to work Friday, giving the green light to non-striking fishermen to go to sea.

Noted Former Judge Admitted to Bar To Aid B.C. Fight

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia government has brought in a retired justice of the Supreme Court of Canada to assist it in the B.C. Electric case.

He is R. L. Kellock, an acknowledged authority on constitutional law, who was hurriedly admitted to the B.C. bar Friday.

Last Monday Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the B.C. Supreme Court ruled that B.C.'s expropriation of the B.C. Electric in August, 1961, was unconstitutional. The provincial government has announced it will appeal the ruling.

Monday it will seek a stay of proceedings in Supreme Court to prevent the handing over of BCE assets to B.C. Power Corporation, parent of the utility at the time of the takeover.

Mr. Justice Kellock resigned from the Supreme Court in 1958 at a time he was considered a likely candidate for chief justice.

He was a prominent Ontario lawyer until appointed to the Ontario court of appeal in 1942. In 1944 he was appointed to the Supreme Court and in 1955 became chancellor of McMaster University.

SPY PROBE

He headed a royal commission into the operation of a Russian spy ring just after the Second World War and was also chairman of a commission investigating a dispute between the CPR and rail unions.

WITH BRAZIER

Mr. Justice Kellock will work with C. W. Brazier, counsel for the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority. The authority was created in 1962 when the B.C. Power Commission and the BCE were merged. Chief Justice Lett's ruling wiped out the authority as a legal entity.

Mr. Brazier said Mr. Justice Kellock will examine constitutional aspects of the Lett decision and give his opinion.

McEwen Declares War Over Ban on Parking

Former city alderman Elmer McEwen last night formally declared war on city council over the controversial Government Street parking ban and vowed to make aldermen cry "Uncle."

"I am sure all the merchants on Government who are affected by this parking ban will support me," he said. Some 100 Government Street merchants recently signed a petition protesting at a complete ban on parking on the west side of the street between Cormorant and Lombard Streets—eight blocks.

WILL GET IT BACK

"We are going to have it all back the way it was, with parking meters," he vowed.

Following the protest by merchants against the total parking ban, city hall this weekend decided that parking should be banned between 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Mondays to Saturdays with Sundays and holidays free. Council also decided the first three parking meters on cross streets within the eight-block section of Government should be altered to allow short-term parking of no more than half an hour.

Mr. McEwen said he has at least a dozen merchants supporting his fight with city hall and he will approach other Government Street merchants within the next few days.

HITS ASSOCIATION

He also hit at the Downtown Businessmen's Association. At a council meeting last week Mayor R. B. McLean said that the parking ban was imposed after the association suggested the move as an alternative to one-way streets.

"Every time city hall speaks, they blame the Downtown Businessmen's Association," Mr. McEwen said. "So far we have been unable to locate a single member of the association.

"The association obviously

Older a Sailor Gets The Fitter He Gets

OTTAWA (UPI)—As far as the Royal Canadian Navy is concerned, physical fitness seems to begin at 30. Naval headquarters announced Friday results of a fitness program started last October showed personnel in the 30-35 age bracket were in better shape than seamen 10 to 20 years younger.

And officers over 60 years of age, who volunteered for the program, often led their crews.

WHAT A SCRIPT! Football can provide its fans with the whole gamut of human emotions. There can be excitement or boredom, disappointment or pleasure, deep gloom or exaltation and sorrow or joy. There is drama, comedy and even pathos. Alfred Hitchcock would have liked what was on display at Calgary last Tuesday.

Out on the field at McMahon Stadium were the favored Calgary Stampeders and Toronto's hopeful Argonauts. On the Toronto bench and in uniform was the great Jackie Parker. He hadn't played in three previous exhibition games but his knee injury was never very serious and it had been reported he could have played if the Argos desired. Would he or wouldn't he had been the big question before each of the Argos' four exhibition games.

As play went into the second half with Calgary unable to improve on its 8-3 lead and Argos able to win with a touchdown, the question loomed bigger and bigger.

The field camera swung with increasing frequency to the Toronto bench. The announcer, as if right on cue in a well-written script, kept adding to the building tension.

"Parker has just put his helmet on"—"Parker has taken it off"—"Parker is kneeling on the sidelines now"—"Parker has gone back to the bench and is sitting down."

As the game reached its last minutes the tension even got to Parker, a seasoned professional who has earned all the praise heaped his way in a lengthy career. He could be seen pacing up and down the sidelines and banging a fist into a hand in a manner which would have delighted Knute Rockne. It was all in the best tradition of the old pro who never loses his desire to win.

Perhaps inspired by all this, the Argos, under the direction of a chap named Don Fuell—who might just make a flanker-back of Parker, started a late march from deep in Toronto territory.

There was only about 30 seconds left when Fuell got his club within a few yards and excitement had reached a new high. Parker was talking vehemently to coach Nobby Wirkowski. It seemed quite obvious that he was a bit more than willing to finally get his first action.

There was time for one more play, perhaps two plays, when the stands broke into a roar. Running out on the field at last was old Spaghetti Lega, the greatest football player Canada has yet imported and the hero of almost countless similar situations.

What a spot. No script-writer could have done better. Even the Calgary fans sensed defeat, and almost hoped it would happen. It was, to be sure, an electric moment. One could even feel it in front of a television screen.

Parker ran into the huddle, there was a new feeling of vibrancy among the Argos on the field. The great moment was at hand. The ball was snapped, Parker looked for a receiver and threw.

He found him. It was Harvey Wylie, and he is a defensive back for Calgary.

HOW IT WORKS: Television, like the process of producing sound on an engraved wax disc, will probably always remain a mystery to me but it seems quite simple the way Glyn Jones of B.C. Telephone explained how closed-circuit television action of football is relayed to the Royal Theatre.

Two Channel 8 cameras on the roof and one on the side-lines at mid-field record the action, which is then transmitted by cable to a mobile unit located inside Empire Stadium.

From there, the picture is transmitted by way of video cable to the B.C. Telephone Company's Alpine office about a mile from the stadium. The image is then channelled by microwave to antennas located on the tower atop the B.C. Telephone headquarters building on Seymour Street to the television operating centre, where the signal is transmitted to the microwave repeater site on top of Mount Bruce on Salt Spring Island.

From there it is reflected to the microwave terminal atop the B.C. Telephone Building on Blanshard Street, where a dish antenna was recently installed just to carry the program. The final leg was via video cable to a dish antenna atop the Royal Theatre. The audio portion of the show is provided by separate B.C. Telephone facilities from the stadium to the theatre.

Well, the mechanics of the whole thing are still confusing but it was an excellent picture, although it seemed to a fellow seated almost across Broughton Street that just a bit less sound would be desirable. It was so good, in fact, that not having an excuse to go to Empire Stadium isn't going to be too hard to take. I saw more actual football Thursday night than any game ever produced for me before. About the only thing that is missed is offensive players running their pass patterns and the covering manoeuvres of defensive backs, something most stadium fans never watch in any case.

FEATURES FOOTBALL: Beautiful British Columbia is a magazine always worth a look, and the next issue, which will be out on Tuesday, is particularly worth the attention of football fans.

Featured in the matchless colored reproductions of the magazine is the Grey Cup, which will again be played for in Vancouver this year. The two-page picture of Empire Stadium is an outstanding success of color clarity.

Among World's Best

Obituary Was Brief For Gerry Gratton

By JACK SULLIVAN

Canadian Press Sports Editor Gerry Gratton died in a Montreal hospital last Sunday, victim of an automobile accident nine days earlier. He was 55 years old, the father of six.

Gerry was one of the finest and most dedicated athletes Canada has sent into international competition. He was a shy man, a building contractor on a modest scale.

He had won more international honors for Canada than any individual Canadian amateur athlete since the Second World War. But the obituary notice was brief.

HELD TROPHIES

Gerry was a weightlifter, a sport that is practically ignored in this country. He had competed against the finest lifters in the world and his trophy room contained two gold medals and a second-place silver.

He won a gold as a middle-weight in the 1956 British Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z. He won another as a middle-weight four years later at the B.E. Games in Vancouver. He placed fifth in the light-heavyweight division in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales, his last international appearance.

His silver medal was won as a middle in the 1952 Olympic Games at Helsinki. In the 1948 Games at London he was fifth. Misfortune dogged him in the 1960 Olympics at Melbourne. To him was the most embarrassing and humiliating experience of his life.

He was Canada's brightest hope for a medal, but he didn't get to the lifting platform. He was one eighth of a pound overweight, was disqualified and on his return home was suspended for a year.

He had trained hard almost daily for two years prior to the Games. He was sure he was within the 181½ - pound light-heavyweight limit but 30 minutes before he was due to compete the official scales showed he had hit 182 pounds on the nose.

NO SCISSORS

A pair of scissors was all that was needed to get him within the limit, but none was available. Team Manager Charlie Walker of Montreal was ready to cut off Gratton's heavy thatch of hair but he couldn't find scissors, the building where the weight-in was held was cold and Gratton couldn't sweat off the extra weight.

Gratton broke down in the team's dressing-room.

"I'm afraid to go back home," he told Canadian and reporters. "I've let my country, my family and my friends down. I've worked hard for this day and I can't understand how I could be overweight. I'm ashamed."

According to the Statues Table calculated for the area, the limit for men in the 181½ - pound class will be as follows (times shown are Pacific Daylight Time):

TODAY

Dodgers' Margin Shrinking Cards Only 3½ Games Away

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A two-run homer by rookie Jim Wynn in the second inning and the steady six-hits pitching of Dick Farrell carried Houston to a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Friday night and trimmed the Dodgers' National League lead to 3½ games.

St. Louis Cardinals took over the runner-up spot, edging the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 with the aid of a spectacular eighth inning defensive play that cut down the tying run at the plate. A Curt Flood to Julian Javier to catcher Tim McCarver relay did the job.

San Francisco's defending champion Giants dropped to third place, 4½ back, after absorbing a 12-11 wallop in 10 innings from Chicago Cubs.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney won his 17th game, tying for high in the majors, with a four-hitter as the Reds beat Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 on Vada Pinson's three-run homer. Milwaukee time, holding the American League - leading Yankees to seven hits, and the Orioles ran their winning streak to four games with a 5-3 decision.

CUT YANKS' BULGE

The loss, coupled with Chicago's 5-1 triumph over Los Angeles Angels, cut the Yankees bulge to seven games over the second-place White Sox. Juan Pizarro pitched a seven-hitter for the victory.

Jim Hall hit a three-run home run and drove in five runs in Minnesota Twins' 10-3 thumping of Kansas City Athletics. Detroit Tigers outlasted Cleveland Indians 10-9 with Rocky Colavito turning in a key defensive play after hitting a three-run homer in decisive four-run seventh inning rally.

Boston and Washington split a twin-night doubleheader. The Red Sox won 5-4 behind Earl Wilson's six-hit pitching before the Senators beat ace Boston reliever Dick Redatz en route to a 4-3 second game triumph.

Jim Schaffer's two-out single drove in Ron Santo with the deciding run for the Cubs in the only day game in the major leagues. It came after a six-run Cub rally in the eighth had tied the score.

Sanio started the winning rally of Don Larsen, the Giants' sixth pitcher, with a one - out double. Ernie Banks was supposedly passed and Ken Hubbs struck out before Schaffer dropped a looping single in short right.

Leo Burke cracked a three-run pinch-hitter and Ellis Burton a two-run homer for the other runs.

Larsen, 2-3, was tagged with the loss and Glen Hobbie, the Cubs' seventh pitcher, won his fifth against eight losses.

Communism Disillusions Turncoat

By UPI, AP

HONG KONG—Koreans were turncoat Lowell Skinner said Friday he was disillusioned with Communism after nine years in Red China despite favored treatment for the Americans who rejected re-education home.

The former army corporal from Akron, Ohio, told a news conference: "You would do things differently if you could see 10 years ahead."

Skinner was one of the 21

Americans captured by the people's freedom of movement Reds who chose Communism as restricted," he said.

The 32-year-old Skinner came out from behind the Bamboo Curtain Thursday on the way back to rejoin his parents and two more will leave shortly.

Skinner said anti-Russian feeling is much stronger in Red China than anti-American sentiment.

He said he decided to return home because of the lack of individual freedom.

PAUL SYKES
"Sparkling, college-type
wit!"—Hugh M. Hefner

Tells of Chaos

He told of the chaotic conditions in China during the "great leap forward" that failed in 1959 and the withdrawal of Soviet help in 1960.

He said there was a noticeable increase in the violence of anti-Russian statements by the Chinese after Soviet technicians were withdrawn. He called 1960 the worst year of hardship for the Chinese people, as a result of the loss of Soviet help. "Droughts and floods, bad management and lack of experience."

Skinner reported there was widespread dissatisfaction in 1959-60 with the Peking regime, and that people "were trying to get out of the country."

But, he added, the Peking government now is "more popular than a year ago."

He admitted there were few individual freedoms in China.

"If you want to change your work, you can't," he said. "If I you want to study, you can't."

If you want to travel, you can't."

Skinner said that when the "great leap forward" program began in 1958 "the people thought they were going to gain something. But then they got tired and tired."

"Things got all mixed up," especially in the field of agricultural production, he said. The Chinese "didn't produce too much."

At the height of the program in September, 1958, it was common for people to work 21 hours a day. But he reported the situation has improved and the work day now is back to eight hours.

Doesn't Regret It

Skinner said he did not regret his decision to stay in China.

"I saw this a good opportunity to see a great country and to learn the Chinese language and I accomplished both," he said. "I don't think I lost anything."

Skinner said after he got out of the prisoner-of-war camp, he asked permission to study in China. Instead the Communists assigned him to a job in a paper factory in Tsinan.

"I was given no choice," he said.

The withdrawal of Russian help had a serious effect, principally on construction of textile and fertilizer plants, he said.

"Some of these big enterprises had to stop after the Russians left," he said.

Skinner said he married Chi Hsiao-fel, four years his senior and the organist at a Seventh-Day Adventist church in Tsinan in 1956.

"I hope to take her back to the United States as soon as conditions permit."

Skinner weighed 133 pounds when he left the U.S. for Korea and now weighs 118. He appeared to be in good health.

Case Checked

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Chevrier said Friday in the Commons he has appointed a psychiatrist and a lawyer to review the case of Leopold Dion, 48-year-old parolee who has been charged with capital murder in sex killings of four young boys in the Quebec City area.

The two experts will report to the minister whether they think that the national parole board took "extraordinary risks" in freeing Dion while he was serving a life sentence in prison for rape.

Big Island Survey Sunday

A survey of sport fishing activity in the tidal waters of southern B.C. will be carried out by the department of fisheries Sunday.

It will cover the Strait of Georgia and Juan de Fuca Strait from Lund and Campbell River southward to Victoria and Sooke.

In addition, about 1,000 voluntary questionnaires will be distributed asking for a report on the success or failure of fishing for the day.

Judge's Son Indicted

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx grand jury Friday indicted Gareth Martinis, a judge's 23-year-old son, for vehicular homicide in a three-car, five-death collision May 19.

District Attorney Idaire Dolingas had asked the grand jury to consider new charges against young Martinis in a public uprising which followed the five-minute deliberation and acquittal of Martinis by three of his father's colleagues.

Gareth is the son of Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Martinis.

The 23-member grand jury indicted Martinis on a much

The vehicular homicide indictment contained five counts, one for each person killed in the highway crash. Conviction could result in a five-year sentence for each count.

The indictment also charged Martinis with third-degree assault against the only person who survived the collision with him.

Job Bid Comes Too Late

A man who wanted to go to Jordan River to get a job and keep out of trouble, was sentenced Friday by Magistrate William Ostler to one year in Oakalla.

Allan Stewart was charged with being unlawfully in a dwelling house. Magistrate Ostler told Stewart it would be impossible to give him a suspended sentence as he had a previous conviction. Stewart was sentenced to a year definite and one year indefinite.

Charles M. Ashe and his brother Patrick, both of 860 Parkland, appeared in city court charged with separate offences.

Charles Ashe was fined $250 on a charge of impaired driving. The magistrate noted he was irresponsible at times but added Ashe had been through a great deal of difficulty. He was bound over for six months on a charge of driving while under suspension.

On a charge of public mischief, Patrick Ashe was given a six-month suspended sentence and put on a $250 good behavior bond. He was also ordered to pay $140 for a plate glass window he broke.

"I don't feel you are criminally inclined. I hope I am right about that," said Magistrate Ostler.

Charged with uttering a forged cheque, Donald Schulz, no fixed address, first entered a plea of guilty, then denied cashing the cheque after hearing evidence by Det. James Baxter. Court was told Schulz cashed the $58.13 cheque at a drug store.

Al Morgan and Philip La-Fortune won't conform although it's costing them 2.4 cents on every gallon of gasoline they sell to remain independent.

Closed Course Valiant Switches His Plans Again

Colonist Walkathon winner Alan Valiant has changed his mind again—he now plans to leave on his long-distance walk attempt at 1 a.m. Sunday accompanied by Dan Cousins, fourth in the recent Walkathon.

And instead of walking from Tolmie and Douglas to Departure Bay and back, Valiant and Cousins will walk from the Town and Country shopping centre around and around the Saanich Peninsula, following the 50-mile route of the Colonist Walkathon.

They plan to try to make four complete circuits of the course for a total of 200 miles.

Valiant's original plan was to walk from Tolmie and Douglas—the city boundary—Wednesday, leaving at 6 a.m. This was cancelled when he had to go to Vancouver and he made plans to leave the shopping centre at 6 a.m. Saturday.

Failed Grade 12

650 Pupils Get Break

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Some 650 Grade 12 students who failed their examinations in one or two subjects this year were given special consideration by the provincial board of examiners and can go ahead with higher education, the Colonist learned last night.

This was announced in an exclusive interview with Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy provincial minister of education, who is also chairman of the board of examiners.

He made the statement in the heat of criticism by school trustees that because supplemental examinations were not held this year, many students would suffer undue hardship, and would have to repeat the school year.

"I think that the students were very fairly treated," Dr. English said.

"Obviously, those who had a low general average and who failed in one or more subjects were not adequately prepared either for university entrance or even for other vocations such as nursing and the various types of technologies."

"There were 376 students who were in the marginal group in that they had averages of 60 per cent or better and failed in one or two subjects. In former years they would have taken supplemental examinations.

"These 376 students were given standing."

"In addition, there were an additional 82 students whose cases were reviewed individually by the board.

Full Record Reviewed

"In considering these cases the records of the school were available from the principal, so that the student's record throughout his secondary school career was taken into consideration.

The 82 included those who because of family affliction, or sickness or other reasons either failed or could not write the examination. Many of those were also granted standing.

"Of the 376 students in the first category, if they had written supp., undoubtedly a number of them would have failed," he continued.

"Last year some 8,000 supp. papers were written; some students wrote more than one paper. About 10 per cent, 800 of the papers were given passes.

"The decision to discontinue the holding of August University Entrance Examinations was made only after very extensive study by the provincial board of examiners."

Dr. English said studies made over a period of years showed that the supp. were not very effective in increasing the quality of work done by students in the subjects they failed in the June examinations.

And, he added, the "second chance" philosophy which the supp. encouraged in some students had an adverse effect on their efforts leading up to the June examinations.

"Last year some 8,000 supp. papers were written; some students wrote more than one

2.4 Cents per Gallon

We're sticking to a principle even if it's costing us money," Al Morgan of Morgan and Tucker Ltd. station, Quadra and Yates, told the Colonist yesterday.

Although he and Mr. La-Fortune, his partner, are operating on a shorter margin, they are selling gasoline at the same price as anyone else.

And what is so bad about "going on consignment" as Victoria gasoline dealers call it?

"Most motorists don't care what we make as long as they are paying less for gasoline," Mr. Morgan said. "But since the price drop to 38.9 from 44.9 cents a gallon, gasoline has again gone up to 41.3 cents and will probably reach its former level soon."

But, he said, "what bugs us in this whole situation is that the fellows (other Victoria service station operators) are now working on some margin—a loss of 18 cents a gallon."

Based on an average 10,000-gallon sale a month, he said, that means a loss of $160 in gross income on gasoline for every station.

How does Morgan and Tucker meet the loss in income from gasoline sales?

"We've been making gasoline a secondary consideration," Mr. Morgan said. "We concentrate on services, repairs and our steady clientele who make up 85 per cent of our business anyway."

Mr. Morgan calculates his markup from the 36.7 cents he has to pay for regular gasoline. Other dealers must conform to the price set by oil companies at no loss or gain to the operator.

How long will they be able to hold out?

He said if his firm had signed the agreement, it would have tied them to the oil company.

Partners Morgan and La-

Fortune decided to remain free of any ties.

The service station they run is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Mr. Morgan said the oil company asked them to pay more rent and increase their hours of operation. However, he said a new arrangement with the owner of the premises "saved us from being kicked out" by the company.

How long will they be able to hold out?

"We have no intention of going on consignment," Mr. Morgan said.

"It's a matter of principle with us."

and, at the same time, earning money to help pay for the education that will lead her to her dream.

Last year she gave tourists 10,000 blooms and 4,000 lavender sachets.

There aren't as many tourists this year.

"It gives me more time to talk to them," said Risha, who always looks on the bright side.

She says she can usually spot tourists but sometimes gives flowers to local citizens by mistake. "They don't seem to mind," she said.

By DON GAIN

The pretty little flower girl in the hoop skirt who represents Victoria on the Causeway these summer days may one day represent her country in the diplomatic service all over the world.

The girl with her eyes on the future is 16-year-old Risha Golby, 453 Quebec, who for the past two summers has strolled along the Inner Harbour handing out flowers to arriving tourists.

In her hoop skirt and bonnet the fledgling diplomat is building up experience in international relations

The record they sought to break was 121 miles and a few yards, established about 20 years ago.

Alarms Stir Empress

Three fire alarms which rang simultaneously at the Empress Hotel last night sent guests scurrying into the halls wondering where the fire was.

There was no fire, but the alarm rang for about 10 minutes on three floors until porters could find manual cutoff buttons to hold off the ringing until the master switch could be found.

An hotel spokesman said the ringing went on only at 20-second intervals "while the porters changed fingers." He said the main switch had been tripped by someone either intentionally or accidentally.

The switch was found after 15 minutes and hotel residents went back to bed.

Gulf Islands

Sunday Trips Boosted

Extra Sunday sailings will be inaugurated this weekend on the Gulf Islands run, M. F. Aldous, general manager of the B.C. Ferry Authority, announced Friday.

An extra trip of the Queen of The Islands will operate from Long Harbor on Salt Spring Island at noon, Sunday, stopping at Village Bay, Mayne Island, Sturdies Bay and Galiano en route to Tsawwassen.

RETURN TRIP

The return trip will sail from Tsawwassen at 2:30 p.m. direct to Long Harbor.

In addition, there will be two evening sailings of the Queen of the Islands, the first at 5:30 p.m. to Sturdies Bay and return, the second at 9:30 p.m. with a call at Village Bay and Sturdies Bay.

The evening sailing of the Pender Queen in the outer islands will be altered to take overload traffic from Tsawwassen.

The extra sailings have been made necessary by the very enthusiastic reception of the new Mainland-Gulf Islands service which started July 4, Mr. Aldous said.

Honeymooning at Chateau Lake Louise are Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Richardson, who will return to make their home in Victoria. Mrs. Richardson is the former Yvonne Savannah, daughter of Mrs. F. E. Willaie, Victoria. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Richardson, also of Victoria. The couple visited the Okanagan first before travelling through the Canadian Rockies.—(Canadian Pacific Photo)

Poodles Preen Under Dryers

By JILL ARLETT

It was just like any other beauty parlor.

There was a shampoo bath, a place for combouts, a waiting room and reception desk, and hair dryers.

A woman wearing a plastic apron was running back and forth checking the progress of her clients under the dryers and getting them combed out.

The only thing the least bit different were the clients themselves.

They're dogs.

Couple Wed. In Vancouver

Theresa Elizabeth Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Bradshaw, Victoria, and Mr. Donald Boyd Williams were united in marriage yesterday afternoon in Shaughnessy United Church. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Williams of Vancouver. Rev. M. W. Stevenson performed the ceremony, in the chapel decorated with pink gladioli, carnations and snapdragons.

A white silk linen sheath was chosen by the attractive bride. A matching silk rajah coat topped her ensemble and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. She wore an open-crowned pill box hat with veil. Mr. Bradshaw gave his daughter in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Williams attended the bride and groom.

Following a honeymoon to Harrison Hot Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will leave for Montreal where Mr. Williams will continue his studies in medicine at McGill University.

Liberal Forum Picnic

Mrs. J. T. Jones, president of the Liberal Women's Forum was hostess recently at her Gorge Road home for the annual picnic of the Forum. Lunch was eaten on the patio and was followed by games. Afternoon tea and ice cream were served.

At the short business meeting that followed, eight delegates were chosen to attend the British Columbia Women's Liberal Association annual meeting in the Georgia Hotel, Vancouver, Sept. 12 to 14. The hostess was thanked by Mrs. F. Decker.

Mrs. J. Steele of Seattle was a guest.

AMY

This "beauty salon" concerns itself exclusively with making dogs look their best.

Almost every facility you'd find in an ordinary beauty salon you'd find here.

Take the dog, for example, who (if you'll excuse the expression) needs a "shampoo and set."

First, he can be collected free of charge from your home and taken to the dog wash. He is then deflated, if necessary, and gone over with a vacuum cleaner to get rid of stray dust.

Next he is given a bath—in a genuine bathtub—and put under a hair dryer, the type used by beauticians.

The amazing part about this whole performance is that none of the dogs seem to mind. In fact, they just lap up all the extra attention.

One poodle, who had just been clipped and washed, was almost preening himself with delight under the dryer. Every once in a while he would give a good stiff combing before sinking back under the warm air.

Waiting to be picked up by his owner, who was to collect him after work, was a freshly-washed collie, placidly watching a second poodle getting a clip.

The poodle, in turn, was casting an intriguing glance at the collie, quite unaware his tail was just being transformed into a pompon.

Poodle owners will find that their dogs will get enthusiastic attention from the manageress of the shop, who specializes in giving a variety of poodle cuts—30 in all.

The owner can look through a book illustrating the many cuts designed for these dogs, and choose the one they like.

Prices, of course, vary according to the size and condition of the dog, but they follow this general pattern:

A small dog washed, combed and dried costs about $2., a collie would be anywhere from $3.50 to $5., and a poodle getting the whole works—shampoo, clip, pedicure, de-fleaing and drying is from $5. to $10.

Pick-up and delivery is free anywhere within the city, and incidentally, dogs are never retailed or kept overnight.

If you would like to know where your dog can get a complete beauty treatment—and enjoy it at the same time—call EV 3-1111 for the name and location.

Dear Ann Landers: When will otherwise intelligent people learn that a single woman, living alone, is not necessarily desperate, wretched and crazy to snag a man?

We've agreed to write this letter together and accept your decision.

Jay listens in on my conversations on the extension phone.

And I shudder when well-meaning clod's introduce me as "available, unattached" and "footloose and fancy free."

These clucks never consider the possibility that I just might have friends of my own, or perhaps a plan or two.

My job is interesting. I enjoy the world of books and music. I'm my own cook and housekeeper. In addition to holding a full-time job. There's no time to be lonely, I resent the creeps who call and assume I'm thrilled to hear a male voice from the outside world.

—SELF-SUFFICIENT

Dear Self-Sufficient: It's good to know that some solo females are content and "self-sufficient." I hope you realize how fortunate you are.

Most bachelor girls, divorcees and widows would be delighted to hear a male voice from the outside world. I know, because they tell me.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I differ on a vital issue. Each of us feels the other is dead wrong, so there is no chance of compromise.

A solid marriage is built on confidence and trust. Snooping and eavesdropping suffocate the sense of mutual confidence that is essential to a healthy relationship.

Garden Notes

Leeks Fill Big Need

By M. V. CHESNUT, FREER

While browsing through one of my favorite garden shops the other day, I ran across several flats of leek plants offered for sale, husky and beautifully grown, and it occurred to me that this most interesting vegetable fills a much-needed spot in the small home garden.

The leek is as hardy as an oak tree, and continues to make growth all through our coastal winters, and by using them to plant up ground as it is cleared of early summer vegetables, you can keep your plot in production all the year round and give yourself a change of cooking at a time when green vegetables are scarce.

of Lancashire. They don't take up too much room in the garden, and if you grow them properly they leave behind them a patch of ground which is in almost perfect condition for growing lettuce.

While it is a bit more trouble, the best way to grow leeks is in trenches. These should be about nine inches deep, with very old manure forked into the bottom soil at the rate of one bucketful per yard run. Cover the manure with a couple of inches of good topsoil, leaving the trench about six inches deep and ready for planting.

If more than one row is planted, space the trenches 18 inches apart, and set out your young leek plants in a single line 12 inches apart. Grow this way, you get really large leeks.

Leeks will grow quite well on the flat without all the bother of cutting trenches, although they will be somewhat smaller and not as easy to blanch. In this case the rows are 12 inches apart with eight inches between plants. Holes are made in the soil about nine inches deep, and the young leek plants are dropped in. The holes are not filled in, but a cupful of water is poured in each one, which washes the soil around the roots.

When planting, it is best to shorten both leaves and roots. Clip back the roots with scissors by about half their length, and the leaves by about one-quarter. This encourages vigorous root action and helps prevent the white-rot disease that sometimes attacks the foliage.

Whatever way you grow your leeks, regular hoeing is necessary to keep the ground clean, and if any flower stems appear they should be nipped off immediately. It is possible to start blanching about five weeks after planting by pulling up a little fine soil around the stems or by gradually filling in the trench.

Once a reasonable length of stem has been blanched, you can start pulling and using your leeks, harvesting a few at a time, as required, through the winter. When you lift them, cut the roots off then and there, letting them fall on the ground to enrich the soil for the following crop of lettuces.

Because you will be pulling your leeks at a time when the ground is at its muddiest, it is a good idea to put down a few stepping-stones alongside the leek row.

SHEILA GRAHAM'S Nod Book

Stars Swizzle and Fizzle

LONDON (NANA)—There are three top movie actresses, some not as big today as they once were, who are drinking themselves out of the business. What happens to these girls? They seem to have everything at the beginning, their love life goes wrong, and they end up with nothing but a hangover.

Writer Wolf Mankowitz came back from New York with a contract to make a musical for the London stage, based on the Rothschilds, the Frederic Morton best seller. It will cost about $600,000 to stage here, an unheard-of price for London.

When Eddie Fisher visits Robert Goulet and Carol Lawrence in their new Hollywood home, after their August 12 marriage, he won't be surprised at the familiar surroundings. He lived in it himself, two wives ago. His last wife's Hollywood agent moved out to let the Goulets move in.

Roc Hudson will go to Greece to get Melina Mercouri for a picture he will make in Greece and Turkey. He will be lucky to get Melina who is in great demand, but then, so is Rock.

Consider David Niven, who started with nothing except good humor and a good but poor family in Scotland. Today he could buy them all the ancestral castles they might want. But David is careful with his millions. He actually cuts off the tails of his shirts to remake the frayed collars. Now that's what I call real Scottish thrif!

Don't be too surprised to find Sergeant Friday, Jack Webb, that is, heading up all the production at Warners in addition to his current TV supervision. Jack Warner likes him, and when Jack likes you, you are in.

Dino de Laurentiis came to London hoping to sign Richard Burton for either Noah or Jacob in The Bible and Trevor Howard for Abraham. He is also hoping to have Columbia finance the picture.

Terence Stamp will star in London for this studio in The Collector. It's Terry's first film since his big hit as the angelic sailor in Billy Budd. His role in The Collector is quite different. He's a psychotic who collects butterflies and girls and locks them up together.

The famed Sadlers Wells Theatre will be pulled down to make way for an office building, unless someone saves it at the 11th hour.

Hal Wallis signed Victor Spinetti of Oh, Oh, Oh. What a Lovely War to a film contract, and I hear David Merrick will bring the play to Broadway. Jean Littlewood directed this hit.

I am told Carroll Baker's husband Jack Garfield has been a constant visitor to her Carpetbaggers set in Hollywood. Perhaps he doesn't want to take a chance with all those alluring clothes and no clothes Carroll wears in the extremely spicy picture.

Metro is looking for some haunted houses in England for a showing of The Haunting. They had better not invite me.

JOHN CROSBY'S Guest Finds

Honest 'Art' Film Best

John Crosby is on vacation. In his absence, his column will be carried on by guest writers.

By ELEANOR PERRY

My husband Frank and I made our first film, David and Liss, in Wynnewood, Pennsylvania.

Later we took it to Venice and, when it won raves and a prize, we had that whole dream city to rejoice in. We were in love with Italy, anyway. We'll stay here, we thought, and make a film. We'll see the world and make films.

Our second film, Ladybug, Ladybug, was to be made in Gradyville, Pennsylvania.

It is a coincidence we have happened twice in a row to find ideal locations in Pennsylvania—but it is no coincidence we are back in the United States. This is the only country and society and civilization we truly, deeply know—and there are so many honest films yet to be made about it.

"Go home," the Europeans told us. "Go home and make pictures about America about the way it really is." We dropped all those juicy properties about does she or doesn't she sleep with him in Positano or in St. Tropez. Like college party raids, this is not the spring for them.

Ladybug, Ladybug is a story of how it feels to live in America under the threat of nuclear destruction—seen entirely through the eyes of children. Children reflect the attitudes of the adults they live with, but they are less corrupted by bias and rationalizations. Their emotions are pure, their reactions basic. We know one 11-year-old who said to his mother during the Cuban crisis, "I don't think they should have a nuclear war without asking the children."

Will anyone ask the children?

Ladybug, Ladybug we are told, is an "art" film. But what is an "art" film? By persistent questioning we gather it is a low-budget project about the grubbiest aspects of life which only a small crowd of neophytes will be interested in seeing.

Then what is a "commercial" film? That turns out to be an expensive, star-studded, sexed-up, over-decorated picture which shuns any connection with real life. People have enough trouble—they want to go to a movie and have a good time."

What is a "good film?" Laughs, pretty girls, pinheads—all the stuff the big guys do.

Little or big guys, is that all they dream of? Who says a ticket-buyer does not yearn to be involved, moved, touched? Who says this is not a "good time?"

Not the audiences which have been coming to David and Liss, a low-budget project which will gross 20 times its cost.

Through some mixup we apparently made a commercial film—even though everybody says it's an art film. We weren't aware of any labels while we were making it. We tried only to make a film that would be honest and please ourselves. And we're going to do the same thing again.

Red Carpet Must In Greeting Wife

WINNIPEG (C.P.) — Two months ago Alex Starkoff of Winnipeg rolled out a red carpet for his wife who was home-bound after a two-month vacation.

"Every husband should greet his wife this way," Mr. Starkoff said at that time.

And he offered to lend the 60-foot-long carpet to anyone who would make similar use of it.

Since the offer, he admitted this week, both he and the carpet have nearly been run ragged. He's been kept busy delivering it to takers throughout Metropolitan Winnipeg.

A couple of weeks ago Mr. Starkoff agreed to lend it to a theatre for the Winnipeg review of a movie. He didn't know it, but his wife had promised it to someone else.

Rather than disappoint one of the parties, Mr. Starkoff bought another length of carpet.

Now 120 feet of red carpet is available to people who want to welcome home husband or wife.

Talks Still Sought

B.C. Ante Accepted As Start

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Power Corporation Friday night accepted a price of $192,838,125 for the B.C. Electric Company as a basis for settlement and requested negotiations to discuss further compensation.

The price was set by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett Monday in a judgment which ruled that the B.C. government's takeover of the BCE in August, 1961, was ultra vires of the legislature.

The corporation—parent of the BCE—when it launched suit to upset the takeover also asked that the supreme court justice set a "fair" price for the giant utility. It suggested $225,000,000 compared with the total of $171,000,000 the government paid.

BENNETT OFFER

Thursday Premier Bennett offered to pay the Lett price for the utility.

A. Bruce Robertson, Power Corporation president, sent a telegram to Mr. Bennett Friday. It mentioned a telegram from Mr. Bennett's "secretary" received Thursday but did not mention its contents. Presumably it contained Mr. Bennett's offer.

"Assuming that it offers a basis for settlement, it is my view that B.C. Power, like the government, should for practical purposes accept figures of $192,838,125 found by Chief Justice Lett as value of BCE common shares as of Aug. 1, 1961, and proceed to discuss compensation in respect of period between Aug. 1, 1961, and the date of final payment, together with two or three other points that we should take care of in order to leave no loose ends."

Mr. Robertson asked earliest possible advice when discussions may commence.

WEEK'S ADJOURNMENT

He added that if favorable word is received between corporation and BCE counsel would be instructed to join those of other parties in requesting a week's adjournment of court cases scheduled to open Monday.

The corporation is to ask the Supreme Court Monday to order the return of the assets of the BCE at the same time the government is slated to ask the court to order a stay of proceedings so that B.C.'s complicated power situation may remain unchanged pending appeal.

When Mr. Bennett announced his offer to accept the court price Thursday Mr. Robertson replied in a statement that the Lett figure does not compensate the corporation for the loss of BCE earnings since August, 1961.

NOT OPEN

And Mr. Bennett said later his offer is not open to negotiation.

"The judge said the case should be $192,000,000 and didn't ask for any more. The government has settled for the amount the judge has set."

Strachan Makes Appeal

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Opposition leader Robert Strachan has appealed to Canadian premiers meeting in Halifax to press Ottawa for confirmation of provincial rights in the public utilities field.

Earlier at a press conference in his legislature office he launched a scathing attack on the Bennett government for "bumbling incompetence" in its handling of B.C. Electric expropriation.

ISSUE ENCLUSED

The real tragedy of the B.C. Electric case, he charged, was that Social Credit bungling had "bemused" the whole area of provincial rights."

Suntanned and looking relaxed, the NDP leader had just returned from a vacation. It was his first comment on the BCJ's challenges.

CHALLENGES PREMIER

He challenged the premier to call an election any time with his allegation of government incompetence as the main issue.

Until now, he claimed, provincial rights in the willynilly field had gone unchallenged.

"Now, unfortunately, we have a court decision, and in our system of government court decisions overrule everything else."

He said he was in favor of paying B.C. Power the additional

Death Toll Now Eight In Garage Explosion

HAMMER, Ont. (CP)—Two teen-agers were added Friday to the list of victims from Tuesday's violent explosion at a combined service station and restaurant here, bringing the total of dead to eight.

Fourteen-year-old Lynda De-guy of Hammer died late Friday in hospital at Sudbury, 15 miles south of here, from head injuries, fractures and burns. A few hours earlier police continuing their probe of the wreckage, discovered the body of Jo-Anne Marois, 15.

The dead included five members of one family—Mrs. Alma D'Amour, 61, her two daughters, Mrs. Estate Cloutier, 27, and Mrs. Earl Mattox, 28, as well as Mrs. Cloutier's 17-month-old son, Vincent, and Mrs. Mattox's four-month-old daughter, Norma. The other victim was service station attendant Raymond Gérald.

Meanwhile Miss Keeler has been visited twice within the past 24 hours by a doctor. "Her nervous condition has brought on an asthma attack," said Miss Paula Hamilton-Marshall, with whom Christine was staying.

"She is very upset. She has been through such a lot, poor dear."

Mandy Rice-Davies visited Miss Keeler and several attractive women called at St. Stephen's Hospital and left flowers for Ward.

Doctors Fight To Save Ward's Life

LONDON (UPI)—Playboy osteopath Stephen Ward clung to life by a thread today.

Ward, who took a massive overdose of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide attempt Wednesday, grew steadily worse and doctors feared death was imminent.

Christine Keeler, the call girl he presented to high society, was under sedation for a serious nervous condition.

Mayne Butcher, spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital, said at 10 p.m. yesterday "the doctor said Dr. Ward's condition is weakening and evidence of cardiac or heart weakness has manifested."

GETTING WORSE

"This is the gravest news so far . . . he is getting worse," Butcher said. At midnight the hospital said there was no change and that an electronic lung was keeping Ward "barely alive."

Morning newspapers reported Ward's heart had stopped three times since Wednesday. Butcher denied this.

MASSIVE DOSE

Ward was in a coma for the third consecutive day after he took a massive dose of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide attempt. He faces up to 14 years in prison on two vice charge convictions.

Doctors and nurses fought around the clock to keep Ward alive but friends in the gay Mayfair circle the dapper doctor frequented said they believed he wanted to die.

NERVOUS CONDITION

Meanwhile Miss Keeler has been visited twice within the past 24 hours by a doctor.

"Her nervous condition has brought on an asthma attack," said Miss Paula Hamilton-Marshall, with whom Christine was staying.

Hamilton: 'It's Sweet Reading'

OTTAWA (CP)—A second long-term wheat agreement with Communist China was signed Friday by former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton as full vindication for the Conservative party and for himself.

It was "very sweet reading to me," said the member for Qu'Appelle, who recalled criticism of the first deal under his jurisdiction as a windfall that never would be repeated.

He said Trade Minister Sharp is reaping the fruits of Mr. Hamilton's 1961 trip to Hong Kong to talk about wheat sales with Red China officials.

Mr. Hamilton said he had been criticized for that trip. He had clearly set out the reasons for it on his return—when he was accused of having gone to reap political advantage from a deal made by the Canadian wheat board.

He had gone, he said, to see how Red China would pay for the wheat, in by a foundation for sales after the first agreement expired in 1965 and to see what could be done to broaden trade relations with Red China.

Mr. Hamilton said he had had to sit quietly for two years and take abuse about the first agreement.

BIG WHEAT SALE

OTTAWA (CP)—A second Canadian wheat sale agreement with Red China duplicates the $112,000,000 to 136,700,000 bushels provided in the one now expiring, Trade Minister Sharp said Friday.

Under the first 2½-year agreement, originally due to end next December, 145,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of barley were delivered.

The second agreement is for three years and makes no provision for barley. Another major change is that the period of repayment at unspecified interest is 18 months replacing the previous terms of nine months and, later, a full year.

DOWN PAYMENT SAME

The down payment remains at 25 per cent.

Prices and grades of wheat are determined in separate hard contracts under the agreement and the prices are those prevailing at the time.

CREDIT FINANCED

The government will continue to finance the credit offered by the Canadian wheat board. The previous Conservative government maintained a special $100,000,000 fund for that purpose.

The agreement dates from Aug. 1.

TO JAN. 31

The first sale under it runs from Aug. 1 to next Jan. 31 and covers 18,570,000 bushels.

Former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton, commenting on the announcement, said the three-year life of the new agreement really includes the last six months of the old one.

Divorce Blockade Not Over

OTTAWA (CP)—Hope that a private member's bill might end the parliamentary blockade of Quebec and Newfoundland divorces by the New Democratic Party faded Friday night. (See also Page 8.)

Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming), who has for two years blocked passage of divorce petitions, said he will "not accept" amendments to the bill by the Senate banking committee.

The down payment remains at 25 per cent.

Woman in Shoe Not Fable

AYLESBURY, England (UPI)—Buckinghamshire police Friday sought a mysterious stripper who left a trail of her garments along three miles of highway.

The trail started at Ivinghoe Beacon, where police found a three-quarter length white linen coat and matching dress with navy-blue trim.

Further on, she dropped a brassiere and garter belt, a blue scarf and a pair of hose.

Then the trail grew cold—as doubtless did the stripper, dressed as she was in only one shoe

Such improvements would be in accord with the many requests and petitions made by residents over the years. However, before any construction could take place the report has to be approved by the federal department of public works in Ottawa, and then by Parliament.

Closed CourseValiant Switches His Plans Again

Colonist Walkathon winner Alan Valiant has changed his mind again—he now plans to leave on his long-distance walk attempt at 1 a.m. Sunday accompanied by Dan Cousins, fourth in the recent Walkathon.

And instead of walking from Tolmie and Douglas to Departure Bay and back, Valiant and Cousins will walk from the Town and Country shopping centre around and around the Saanich Peninsula, following the 50-mile route of the Colonist Walkathon.

They plan to try to make four complete circuits of the course for a total of 200 miles.

Valiant's original plan was to walk from Tolmie and Douglas—the city boundary—Wednesday, leaving at 6 a.m. This was cancelled when he had to go to Vancouver and he made plans to leave the shopping centre at 6 a.m. Saturday.

Failed Grade 12650 Pupils Get Break

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Some 650 Grade 12 students who failed their examinations in one or two subjects this year were given special consideration by the provincial board of examiners and can go ahead with higher education, the Colonist learned last night.

This was announced in an exclusive interview with Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy provincial minister of education, who is also chairman of the board of examiners.

He made the statement in the wake of criticism by school trustees that because supplemental examinations were not held this year, many students would suffer undue hardship, and would have to repeat the school year.

"I think that the students were very fairly treated," Dr. English said.

"Obviously, those who had a low general average and who failed in one or more subjects were not adequately prepared either for university entrance or even for other vocations such as nursing and the various types of technologies."

"There were 576 students who were in the marginal group in that they had averages of 50 per cent or better and failed in one or two subjects. In former years they would have taken supplemental examinations.

"These 576 students were given standing."

"In addition, there were an additional 82 students whose cases were reviewed individually by the board.

"In considering these cases the records of the school were available from the principal, so that the student's record throughout his secondary school career was taken into consideration.

"The 82 included those who because of family affliction, or sickness or other reasons either failed or could not write the examination. Many of those were also granted standing.

Number Would Fail

"Of the 576 students in the first category, if they had written supplementary, undoubtedly a number of them would have failed," he continued.

"Last year some 8,000 supplementary papers were written; some students wrote more than one paper. About 10 per cent, 800, of the papers were given passes.

"The decision to discontinue the holding of August University Entrance Examinations was made only after very extensive study by the provincial board of examiners."

Dr. English said studies made over a period of years showed that the supplementary were not very effective in increasing the quality of work done by students in the subjects they failed in the June examinations.

And, he added, the "second chance" philosophy which the supplementary encouraged in some students had an adverse effect on their efforts leading up to the June examinations.

EARL SPEAKMAN
... Nanaimo and backOn Last Lap
Walker Heading For New Mark

Lone walker Earl Speakman, 18, of Victoria, had completed 115 miles non-stop at 10 p.m. last night, just a few miles shy of a previous record of 121 miles set 80 years ago.

At press time he was reported still dragging past Mill Bay after more than 40 hours on his feet. Speakman was third in the March 30 Colonist 50-mile Walkathon.

Co-walker Norman Patenau, 18, of Victoria, was reported to have dropped out in Nanaimo at midnight yesterday.

Speakman started about 6 a.m. Thursday from Town and Country shopping centre with Patenau, walked to Nanaimo, turned around and may have completed the 140-mile jaunt by the time the Colonist is delivered this morning.

Speakman was walking accompanied by one or more cars most of the time.

Duncan Colonist correspondent Klaus Muettel reported late yesterday Speakman had told him he and Patenau had been walking at a speed of four miles an hour for the first 50 miles, then slowing down to three, later to two miles.

Crews Speed Work On Hotel Project

NANAIMO — A.M. (Bob) Afleck in Nanaimo is reckoned to be either a very daring gambler or a far-seeing businessman.

Right now the whole town is talking about Bob's new hotel as 85 tradesmen swarm over the old Plaza hotel in a desperate attempt to complete the $140,000 renovation job which will make the old hotel the plush Shoreline Hotel by Tuesday next week.

EX-MAYOR

Bob, an ex-mayor of Kamloops, does not look on his project as a gamble.

"There is now a definite swing back to good hotels," he said, "and my confidence in the future of Nanaimo is the reason for this hotel."

Plush is the word for the new Shoreline. It features wall-to-wall carpeting in every one of its 80 rooms; steam baths, custom furniture, (right down to custom-made table lamps in each room), a cocktail lounge with a huge waterfall built of real rocks, hand-chipped rock front to the hotel specially designed by a local firm of stonemasons, a banquet room which can seat more than 500, a telecommunications reservation system, a recreation room with two pool tables and a collection of the best chefs Bob could find in Canada.

B.C. BID TAKEN AS PACT BASIS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Power Corporation Friday night accepted a price of $192,838,125 for the B.C. Electric Company as a basis for settlement and requested negotiations to discuss further compensation.

The price was set by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett Monday in a judgment which ruled that the B.C. government's takeover of the BCE in August, 1961, was ultra vires of the legislature.

The corporation—parent of the BCE—when it launched suit to upset the takeover also asked that the supreme court justice set a "fair" price for the giant utility. It suggested $225,000,000 compared with the total of $171,000,000 the government paid. (See also Page 7.)

BENNETT OFFER

Thursday Premier Bennett offered to pay the Lett price for the utility.

A. Bruce Robertson, Power Corporation president, sent a telegram to Mr. Bennett Friday. It mentioned a telegram from Mr. Bennett's "secretary" received Thursday but did not mention its contents. Presumably it contained Mr. Bennett's offer.

"Assuming that it offers a basis for settlement, it is my view that B.C. Power, like the government, should for practical purposes, accept figures of BCE common shares as of Aug. 1, 1961, and proceed to discuss compensation in respect of period between Aug. 1, 1961, and the date of final payment, together with two or three other points that we should take care of in order to leave no loose ends."

Mr. Robertson asked earliest possible advice when discussions may commence.

WEEK'S ADJOURNMENT

He added that if favorable word is received between corporation and B.C. counsel would be instructed to join those of other parties in requesting a week's adjournment of court cases scheduled to open Monday.

The corporation is to ask the Supreme Court Monday to order the return of the assets of the BCE at the same time the government is slated to ask the court to order a stay of proceedings so that B.C.'s complicated power situation may remain unchanged pending open Monday.

ISSUE RECLUDED

The real tragedy of the B.C. Electric case, he charged, was that Social Credit bungling had "recluded the whole area of provincial rights."

Suntanned and looking relaxed, the NDP leader had just returned from a vacation. It was his first comment on the BCE judgment.

CHALLENGES PREMIER

He challenged the premier to call an election any time with his allegation of government incompetence as the main issue.

Until now, he claimed, provincial rights in the utility field had gone unchallenged.

"Now, unfortunately, we have a court decision, and in our system of government court decisions overrule everything else."

He said he was in favor of paying B.C. Power the ad-

Opposition leader Robert Strachan has appealed to Canadian premiers meeting in Halifax to press Ottawa for confirmation of provincial rights in the public utilities field.

Earlier at a press conference in his legislature office he launched a scathing attack on the Bennett government for "bumbling incompetence" in its handling of B.C. Electric expropriation.

Satellite Spots First Hurricane

MIAMI (UPI)—The season's first hurricane, detected by America's "weather eye," Tropo 6 satellite, boiled up in the Atlantic with 100-mile-an-hour winds Friday about 2,200 miles southeast of Miami.

The San Juan weather bureau reported the centre of the tropical storm, named Arlene, about 1,000 miles east-southeast of San Juan.

at a combined service station and restaurant here, bringing the total of dead to eight.

Fourteen-year-old Lynda Du-gay of Hammer died late Friday in hospital at Sudbury, 15 miles south of here, from head injuries, fractures and burns.

A few hours earlier police, continuing their probe of the wreckage, discovered the body of Jo-Ann Marois, 15.

The dead included five members of one family—Mrs. Alma D'Amour, 44, her two daughters, Mrs. Estelle Cloutier, 27, and Mrs. Earl Maite, 26, as well as Mrs. Cloutier's 17-month-old son, Vincent, and Mrs. Maite's four-month-old daughter, Norma. The other victim was service station attendant Raymond Geraux.

Meanwhile, Miss Keeler has been visited twice within the past 24 hours by doctor.

"Her nervous condition has brought on an asthma attack," said Miss Paula Hamilton-Marshall, with whom Christine was staying.

"She is very upset. She has been through such a lot, poor dear."

Mandy Rice-Davies visited Miss Keeler and several attractive women called at St. Stephen's Hospital and left them for Ward.

Hamilton: 'It's Sweet Reading'

OTTAWA (CP)—A second long-term wheat agreement with Communist China was claimed Friday by former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton as full vindication for the Conservative party and for himself.

It was "very sweet reading to me," said the member for Qu'Appelle who recalled criticism of the first deal under his jurisdiction as a windfall that never would be repeated.

He said Trade Minister Sharp is reaping the fruits of Mr. Hamilton's 1961 trip to Hong Kong to talk about wheat sales with Red China officials.

Mr. Hamilton said he had been criticized for that trip. He had clearly set out the reasons for it on his return—when he was accused of having gone to reap political advantage from a deal made by the Canadian wheat board.

He had gone, he said, to see how Red China would pay for the wheat, to lay a foundation for sales after the first agreement expired in 1963 and to see what could be done to broaden trade relations with Red China.

Mr. Hamilton said he had had to sit quietly for two years and take abuse about the first agreement.

Wheat Sale Agreement With China Announced

Divorce Blockade Not Over

OTTAWA (CP)—Hope that a private member's bill might end the parliamentary blockade of Quebec and Newfoundland divorce by the New Democratic Party faded Friday night. (See also Page 5.)

Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming), who has for two years blocked passage of divorce petitions, said he will "not accept" amendments to the bill by the Senate banking committee.

The down payment remains at 25 per cent.

CREDIT FINANCED

The government will continue to finance the credit offered by the Canadian wheat board. The previous Conservative government maintained a special $100,000,000 fund for that purpose.

The agreement dates from Aug. 1.

TO JAN. 31

The first sale under it runs from Aug. 1 to next Jan. 31 and covers 18,670,000 bushels.

Former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton, commenting on the announcement, said the three-year life of the new agreement really includes the last six months of the old one.

The deal for Soviet arms is still in the early stages. An arms mission sent back a report from Moscow saying the Soviet Union had offered ground-based anti-aircraft missiles, mountain artillery, helicopters and other items.

Britain and the United States stipulated that military aid should be used only for defense against Communist China. This restriction was intended to reassure their ally, neighboring Pakistan, which fears Indian attack because of its

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament recessed Friday night for a two-month summer holiday after putting the finishing touches on the minority Liberal government's initial round of legislation.

In pre-holiday festive spirit, MPs closed out the first part of the opening session of the 26th Parliament at 10:30 p.m. EDT of the 56th sitting day.

Both the Commons and the Senate sat overtime in rare Friday night sittings to complete passage of several important measures the government wanted to become law before the recess.

Bullets Fly In Korea

PANMUNJON, Korea (AP)

—Communist North Korean troops intruded into United Nations command areas of the demilitarized zone today and exchanged fire with American troops. Maj.-Gen. George Cloud told the Communists at an armistice commission meeting here.

Cloud said the incident took place at about 4:30 a.m. 500 yards south of the military demarcation line which runs through the middle of the demilitarized zone separating the North Korean Communists from UN troops.

Cloud did not elaborate on his report of the incident immediately. He did not say whether there were casualties or what happened to the intruders.
